president's letter 2006

My Dear Student:

How proud we are that you are a part of the High Point University family. This is a truly special place, and you help make it exceptional with your involvement, your commitment, and your leadership. Thank you.

Not a day passes by that I don't thank God for our students. You are the reason for our being... to ensure that you receive an extraordinary education in a fun environment with caring people. Our future is so bright and you'll surely be proud of your alma mater.

For those who graduate this year, I offer my hearty congratulations. You worked hard, met all the requirements, and achieved a new zenith in your life. Celebrate this moment and be grateful for your accomplishments and for all those who helped you arrive at this successful destination. Your tomorrows will be filled with potential and opportunity. Seize them. Focus on them. Execute with professionalism and faith.

For those who will return here again in the fall... be assured that every day faculty and staff work long and hard to ensure that this university offers you the best in programs and resources. We genuinely care about you as a person and as a friend. Together, we'll watch the completion of construction in the near future and benefit from the beauty and utility of the facilities.

Promise yourself that you will always reach the stars with anticipation and wonder as you maintain your sense of balance in all things that matter.

With my warmest regards and best wishes,

Walk down the Promenade, through the hallways and across the playing fields; everywhere you turn on campus you find change. From the complete renovation of The Complex (McEwen, Wesley, North, Yadkin) to completely new construction projects that include: Blessing Residence Hall, Slane Student Center, Steele Sports Center, and the Vert Soccer Stadium - it's easy to see our $100 million transformation is taking place! While the construction dust and noise is a small price to pay for all the progress, Dr. Qubein has been wonderful enough to provide free car washes each Saturday for students!

European elegance is what landscape designers were going for when they designed the walkways and gardens around HPU.

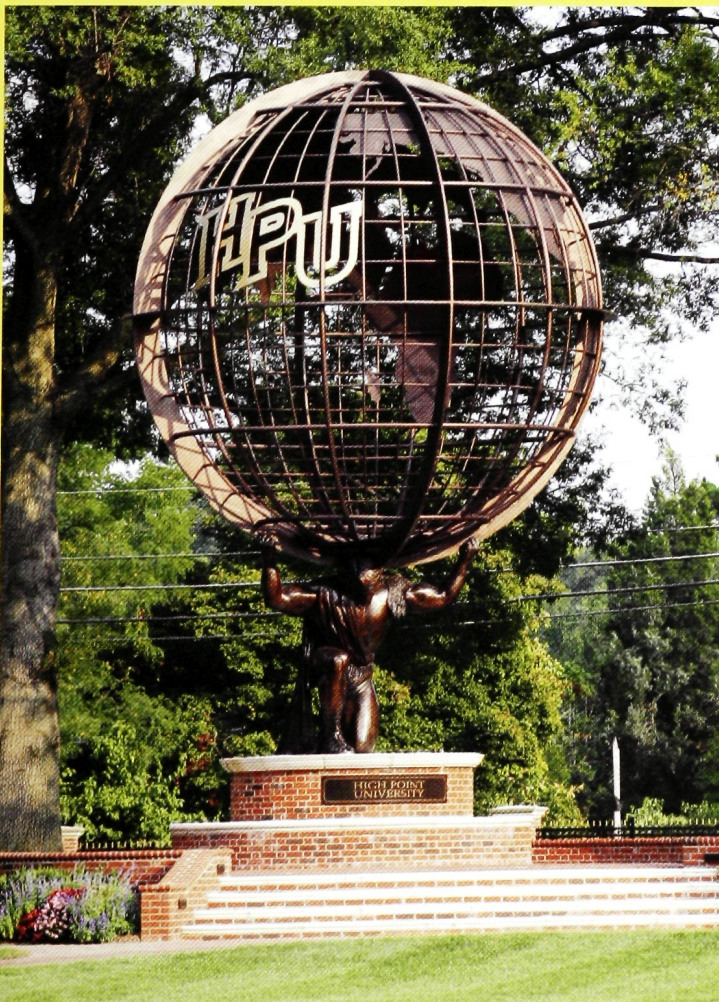

The new face of HPU is taking shape! Here, construction on the Slane Student Center – one of eleven new buildings scheduled to rise from the ground at HPU – signals just how massive the $100 million transformation really is.

Top, the new Steele Sports Center is on schedule to open for the spring sports season. Left, the soccer field and 8-lane track are already open for students to use. The Vert Soccer Stadium is nearing completion.

Hayworths Invest $25 Million in HPU's Future

In an announcement that rocked the hallowed halls of High Point University, philanthropist and community leader David R. Hayworth pledged the single largest gift in the school's 84-year history. This new unrestricted contribution — along with previous donations from David Hayworth and his brother Charles — brings the Hayworths' total investment at the university to more than $25 million.

"We are so grateful to David Hayworth," said President Qubein, who has led a campaign that has raised $100 million since he took over in January 2005. "He is a philanthropist extraordinaire and a committed steward who loves High Point University and wants to secure its promising future."

The new gift becomes a significant part of the $250 million transformation of the university. "This new commitment will provide the necessary funds to enhance academic programs and nurture student life," said Dr. Qubein. "Mr. Hayworth is making a huge difference and we are blessed with his friendship."

"What is happening at High Point University is just amazing and I want to be a part of the exciting new developments on campus," said Hayworth. "I believe in the fundamental values of educating young people and preparing them for a successful future. I agree with the new direction of the university and I am delighted to be able to support it."

Mr. Hayworth being interviewed in front of the Hayworth Fine Arts Center ... a building which bears his family's name.

Charles and David

Hayworth owned a number of High Point businesses including Hayworth Roll & Panel Company, Clarendon Industries, Alma Desk Company and Myrtle Desk Company. David Hayworth was President & CEO of Alma Desk Company when the companies were sold in 1991. Charles Hayworth passed away in 1994.

David Hayworth is an active philanthropist in High Point and across the state, contributing generously to dozens of organizations including the North Carolina Museum of Art, United Way of America, High Point Regional Health Systems, Wesley Memorial United Methodist Church, UNC in Chapel Hill, Victory Junction Gang Camp, Family Service of the Piedmont, and the NC School of the Arts. He was recognized by the High Point Community Foundation as its Philanthropist of the Year in 2005, and by the United Way of America as Chairman of the Alexis de Tocqueville Society and a member of the Million Dollar Roundtable in 2004.

He serves on many boards including: Chairman of the High Point Regional Health System Endowment Board, High Point Community Foundation, High Point University, Family Service of the Piedmont, Family Service Funding "For Love of Family," David Hayworth Swimming Center

(Boys & Girls Club), Youth Unlimited, YMCA, Hospice of the Piedmont and Community Fine Arts Governor's Mansion. He also served as Chair and is a current trustee of Maryfield, Chairman of the NC Shakespeare Festival, University of NC Witherspoon at Greensboro Art Galley, Board of Overseers at Duke Comprehensive Cancer Center, Member of the Herculean Society, Pinnacle Club at Duke University, Cities in Schools, Bank of America's High Point Board, Fine Arts Committee of the State Department Reception Rooms in Washington, and a founder of the Treaty of Paris Society at the State Department. He also served on the James B. Duke Society, Board of Stewards at Wesley Memorial United Methodist Church, YMCA Century Club and the Clark Lineberger Cancer Centers at UNC.

He has been honored by The Herculean Society, received the Order of the Long Leaf Pine and received the Chairman's Award from United Way of Greater High Point, among others.

"David is an important partner for HPU," stated Marsha B. Slane, Chairman of the Board of Trustees at the University. "He truly cares about children and youth and invests his resources joyfully to make good things happen."

Hayworth is a graduate of Woodberry Forest School in Woodberry, VA, the University of North Carolina in Chapel Hill, and is a lifelong resident of High Point.

graduation 2006

The weekend of May 5-6, 2006 marked High Point University's 82nd Graduation exercises. The festivities attracted a record crowd, including 6,000 people packing the front lawn of Roberts Hall on Saturday morning for the Commencement ceremony. What a thrilling time, which brought together students, parents, faculty, staff, supporters, family and friends.

Graduates and their families were inspired by a thoughtful, poignant and sometimes humorous keynote Commencement address by Her Majesty Queen Noor of Jordan. The evening prior, Dr. James C. Howell, senior pastor of Myers Park United Methodist Church in Charlotte, NC, delivered a compelling message of faith and hope during the Baccalaureate service. Graduates and their families were also treated to the annual alumni luncheon, which featured a keynote address from Dr. Nido Qubein.

This momentous occasion brought pride to all of those associated with High Point University, and we prayerfully and thoughtfully send our 2006 graduates into the world to pursue significance in all they do.

Her Majesty Queen Noor personally greeted each graduate from the class of 2006.

Energy ran high as graduates received their much-deserved diplomas.

The Alumni Luncheon is always a popular event. This year, the new Jumbotron made it easy for everyone to see and hear the presenters.

Showing off their hard work, graduates beamed with pride and accomplishment.

Bright and early on the morning of Friday, August 17, the brand new Blessing Residence Hall opened its doors and welcomed 239 members of the freshman class of 2006 to High Point University. After a whirlwind summer of round-the-clock construction, the 103,000+ square foot, $11 million, state-of-the-art residence hall sparkled like a new penny. Freshmen and parents were amazed at the first-class accommodations, as staff, faculty and the OC (Orientation Crew) helped move boxes and bags and crates and trunks into rooms. At the end of the day, 239 new freshmen were settled into their new home in Blessing Residence Hall.

In total, a record 540 freshmen moved-in over a two day period, which began a week of festivities highlighted by a concerts, social events and speakers.

Freshmen and their families were happy to have members of the "OC" assist with unloading. Here, Jacob Peters manages to carry a load with a smile!

Everyone got into the act. Here, President Qubein goes from car to car welcoming families to campus.

Staff and faculty helpers pause for a moment to catch their breath.

RA's Ashten Cornelius and Michelle Kampner welcome freshmen to their new "home" in Blessing Hall.

"May I Help You?" was the question of the day as faculty and staff helped incoming freshmen on their first day at HPU.

Below, RA's Dana Robinson, Jasmine Jones-Green, Patty Mayol, Lisa McKinney, and Anne Michner roamed the hallways to greet their new neighbors.

Ready for Action!
Members of the OC (Orientation Crew) prepare to assist the largest freshmen class in HPU history. The OC members, comprised of volunteer upperclassmen, returned to High Point early just to welcome the freshmen class and their families.

Members of the Admissions Department staff welcome families to HPU.

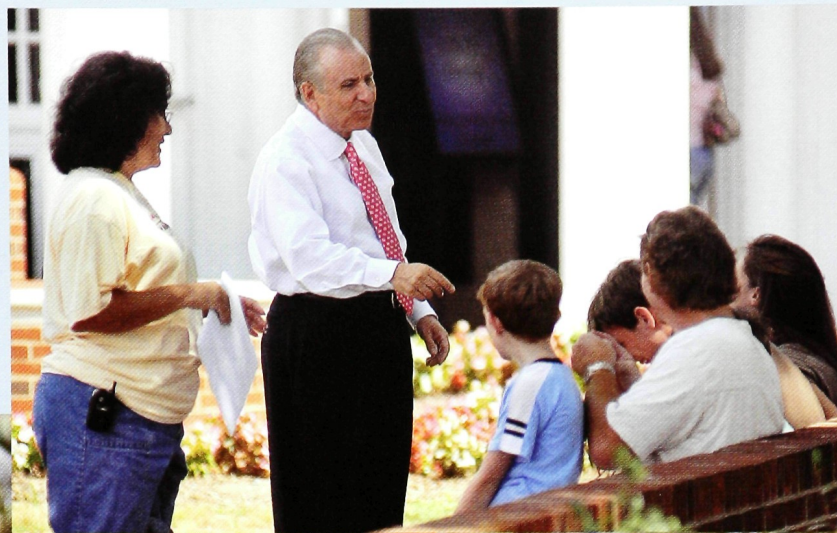

Megan Pastor, Orientation Chair, and Hillary Cole, Director of Student Activities, led efforts to make a good first impression on HPU's newest family members.

Families were in awe at the organization, amount of extra help and positive energy on campus that morning.

President Qubein strolled across campus speaking with families about the great year ahead.

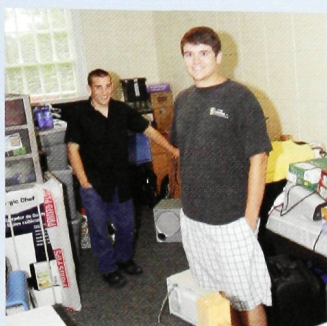

Welcome to HPU! Incoming freshmen and their families gathered in Millis Convocation Center for opening Convocation, the formal introduction to faculty and administration.

Following the Convocation Program, everyone enjoyed food, music, and fun! Freshmen and their families enjoyed this time to meet faculty and staff members.

Under the big top! Families enjoyed a luncheon after the convocation ceremony outside Millis Convocation Center.

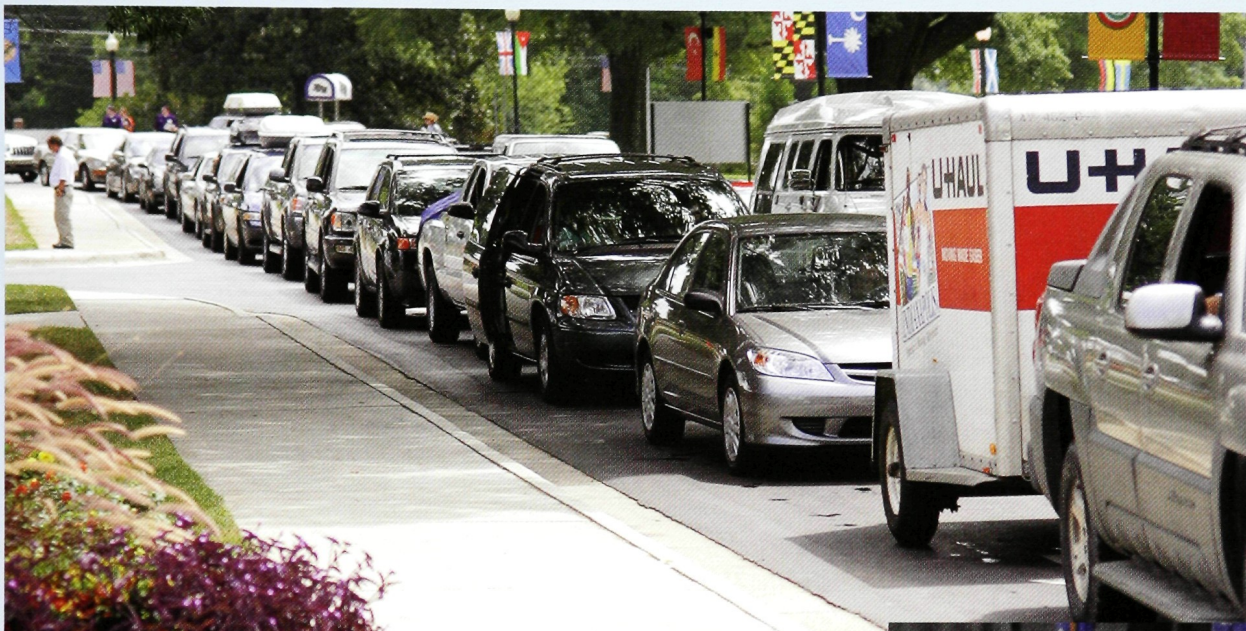

Getting settled in. While rooms at Blessing are much larger than the typical dorm room, many freshmen brought more "stuff" than could possibly fit. Some parents returned home with the non-essentials.

Say "Cheese!" Every incoming student got a photo memento of the day.

It may have looked like a traffic jam, but traffic moved quickly to unload freshmen and their "stuff."

Junior marshals led the processional of faculty into the convocation ceremony, officially opening the new school year.

Speakers at convocation included HPU's Vice President for Academic Affairs, Dr. Dennis Carroll.

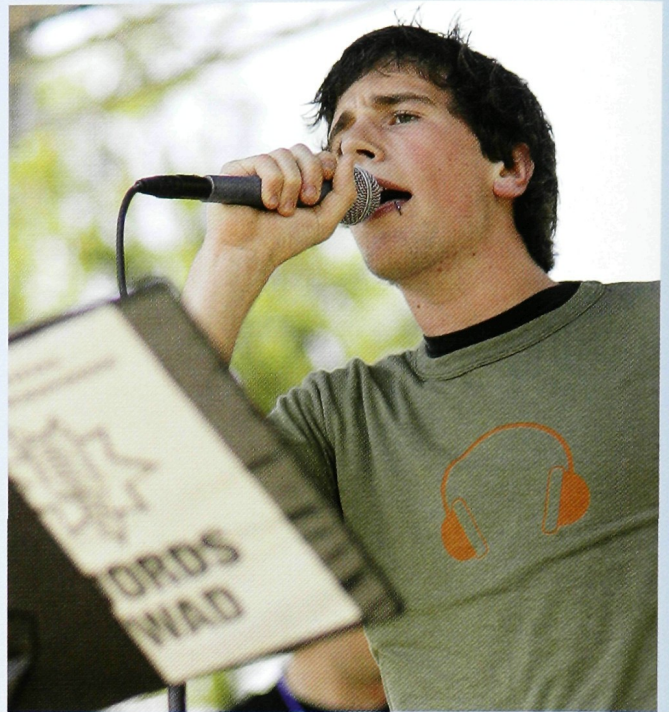

Generosity in Action! Free ice cream, lemonade, pizza and other tasty snacks took the edge off any move-in tension, here in front of the women's residence complex.

If Opening Convocation is the formal introduction of freshmen to faculty, then Derby Day is its informal counterpart; allowing freshmen and upperclassmen to meet in the middle of an outdoor wonderland of activities. The International Promenade is turned into a college student playground equipped with a rock climbing wall, a giant concert stage featuring 2 bands and student karaoke, and even a water park! HPU students come out to meet old friends, make new ones and enjoy the warm weather before they focus their attention on academics.

With water activities dominating the Promenade, students were treated to giant HPU beach towels among other gifts, to make Derby Day even that much more special.

Freshmen Jesse Cherry, wastes no time in making introductions as he belts out his favorite Dave Matthews tune.

The waterslide cools off the hot crowd of HPU students.

Heading straight to the top, A.C. Talus tackles the rock climbing wall sans shoes!

Angela Marini and Jenn Abriola reconnect after the summer break.

Look out Backstreet Boys, members of the Pi Kappa Alpha fraternity (Tom Beebe, Carter Bills, William Taylor, Chris Payne) ham it up as they perform Baby Got Back, the Sir Mix-A-Lot classic!

Students line-up to receive the surprise gifts at Derby Day.

It is the High Point University equivalent to Hollywood's Academy Awards. Each October students prepare for the Homecoming Dance held at The Radisson in downtown High Point. The Café is busy the week before as students vote for their favorite Homecoming Court members. The ladies search for the perfect dress while the guys look under their baseball hats to see how they might comb their hair! The Student Government Association sponsored dance remains an annual tradition, even bringing back many young alums who never tire of the crowded parquet dance floor

Inauguration of President Nido R. Qubein and Family and Alumni Weekend

HPU history books will forever report that the weekend of October 4-8, 2006 was one of grandeur and pride on the campus of High Point University. It was the occasion of the inauguration of our seventh president – Dr. Nido R. Qubein – during our annual fall Alumni & Family Weekend. Festivities were varied ... from a golf tournament and performance by a world-class magician, to special chapel services and student research symposium, to a candlelit dinner and a formal black-tie gala. There was a special performance by the legendary Drifters, and while the soccer game got rained out and the picnic got moved indoors, there was nothing soggy or dreary about the prevailing attitude of those who made the journey here to enjoy the weekend. More than 2500 people came to celebrate, and when the final good-byes were said, the weekend was hailed as one of the most spectacular events in the life of High Point University.

The 7th President of High Point University, Dr. Nido Qubein, addresses the Standing Room Only crowd.

Jamestown Pipes and Drums filled the Wesley Chapel with a dramatic sound befitting an Inauguration Ceremony.

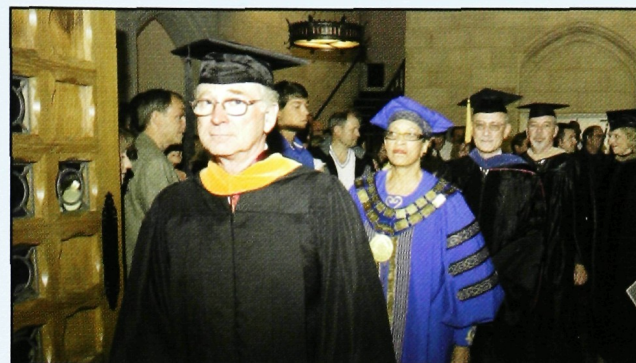

Faculty Marshal, Dr. Jamie Stitt, leads the processional at the Inauguration ceremony.

Opera singer Carl Tanner performs a mesmerizing version of God Bless America.

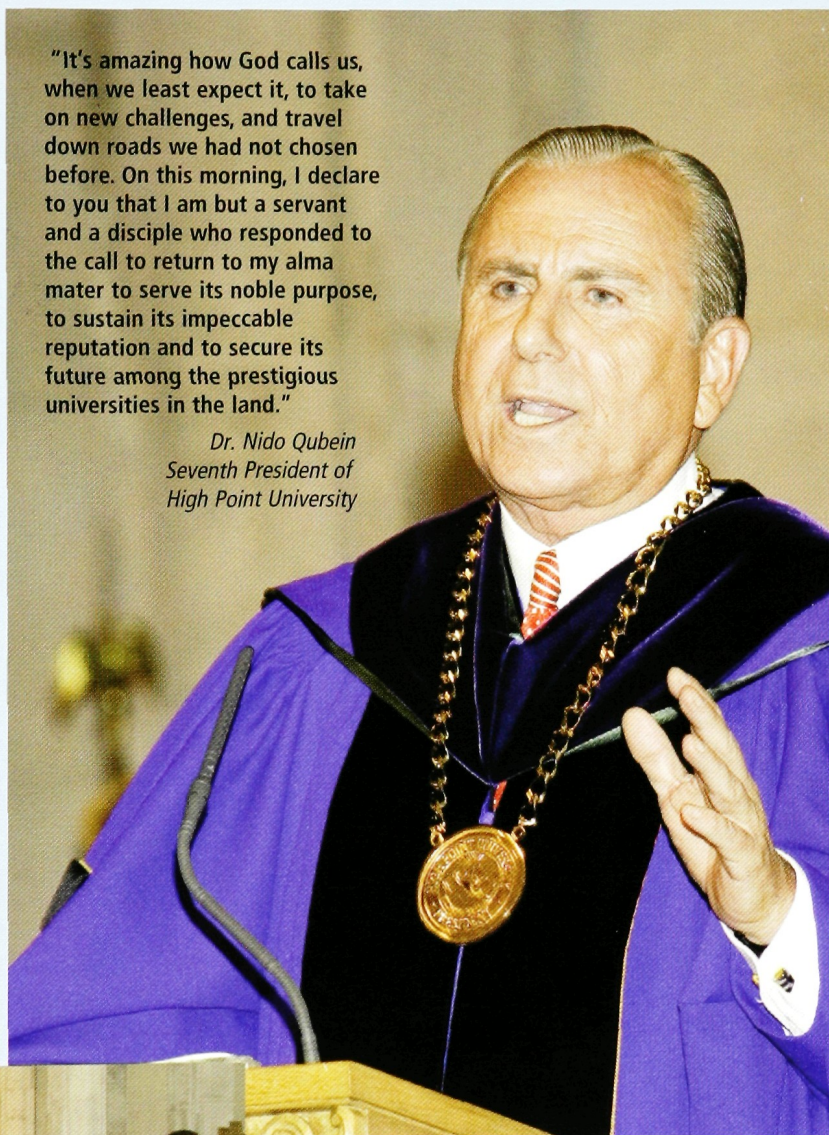

Flags celebrating the historic Inauguration donned the Roberts Hall Lawn.

Delegates from more than 70 colleges and universities across the country attended the inauguration of Dr. Qubein. They came from as far away as California. Salutations came from an additional 137 institutions.

SGA President Josh Faucette brings greetings from the student body.

"It's amazing how God calls us, when we least expect it, to take on new challenges, and travel down roads we had not chosen before. On this morning, I declare to you that I am but a servant and a disciple who responded to the call to return to my alma mater to serve its noble purpose, to sustain its impeccable reputation and to secure its future among the prestigious universities in the land."

halloween fair

Each October High Point students and staff invite local elementary school children to campus for a Halloween celebration. Student groups transform the Kester International Promenade into a miniature street full of tricks and treats. The Volunteer Center organizes this annual project. HPU students enjoy the opportunity to dress-up themselves as they give out candy and provide games for our "little" neighbors.

Breanna Kusnierczyk is dressed up in a pumpkin costume with her scarecrow friend Renee Losievsky.

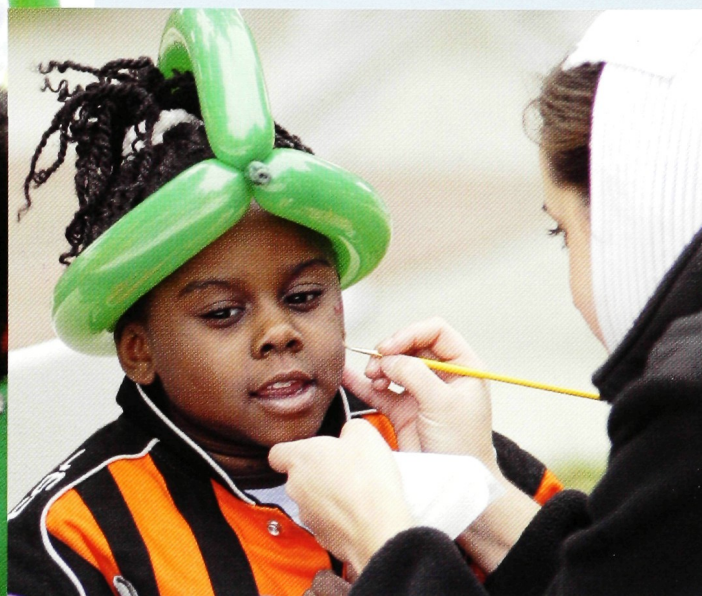

Theta Chi President Guy Severini and fellow fraternity members show the children how to carve a pumpkin! They carved a pumpkin for every classroom to take back to school with them.

Brenda, the balloon artist, treats students to balloon "animal dujour!"

HPU staff member Emily Boles proves that not ALL witches are evil!

President of the Art Club at High Point University Erin Smith is at her best designing face paintings for the children.

Roberts Hall Clock Tower shown at night with our Christmas tree lit with holiday cheer.

After returning from Thanksgiving break, our campus is transformed into a winter wonderland! Walk down the promenade and you're surrounded by the sights and sounds of the holidays. Christmas Carols can be heard from the Promenade sound system; life-size toy soldiers and nutcrackers stand "guard" over campus; Holiday flags add a festive flair; and the 30 foot live tree in Finch Circle remind us all Christmas will soon be here.

Juniors Nina Licketto and Holly Johnson utilize one of the Promenade "Guards" to pose for their Christmas card. Afterwards, the "guard" blushed!

The Hayworth Fine Arts Center glows with its Christmas wreaths and surrounding light poles covered with garland and lights.

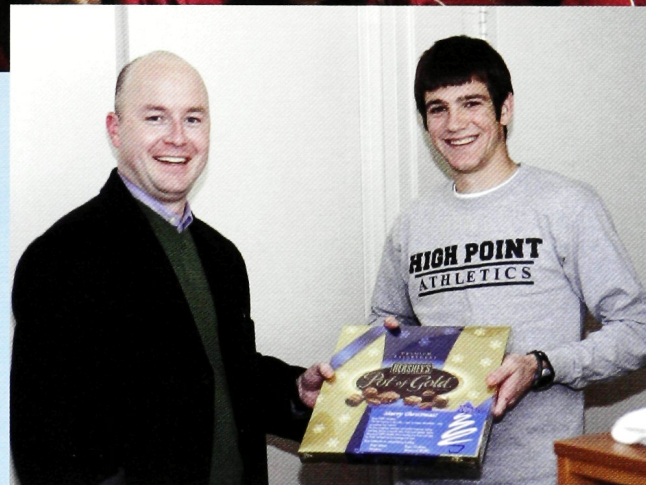

Derrick Forrester, Stacey Bradley, and Robert Reid Goodson sing along during the Lessons and Carols Lighting of the Christmas Tree.

Dr. Warlick leads the Lessons and Carols service in Hayworth Chapel. Lessons and Carols has become one of the students favorite holiday traditions.

Santa takes a day off from the North Pole to serve hot chocolate and cookies at the kiosk. We are sure are lucky to the "Jolly Old Elf" on our campus! Kim Daniels Appreciates Santa being on campus, or maybe she realizes that Santa might be able to get her out of her campus parking ticket!

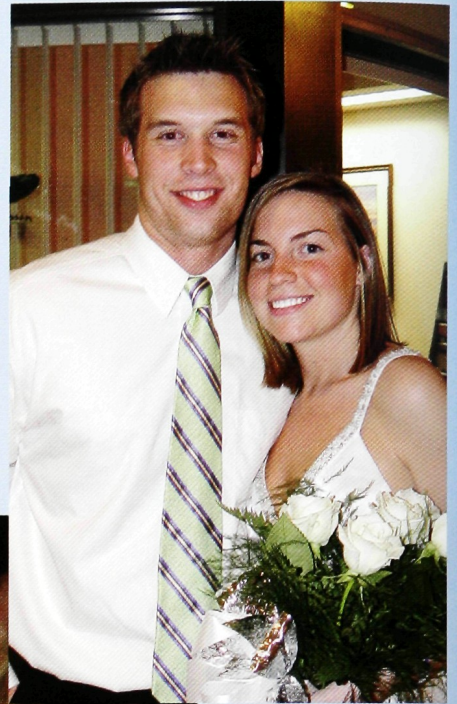

Gifts are pretty common at HPU, but John Coles excited about the Director of WOW!, Roger Clodfelter, delivering a box of chocolates.

Holiday flags add festive flair to the Kester International Promenade.

It's February, the weather is dreary, and you want to shake off the post-holiday blues. Enter Snowball! The spring semester sister to the Homecoming Dance, Snowball offers students a chance to make up for their pitiful dance moves from last October. It's also the perfect party time as it falls between the beginning of the spring semester and spring break. Student Government sponsors the spring semi-formal held at the Radisson.

Senior Zana Vance and alum Matthew Brooks enjoy their final Snowball.

Nichole Houghting and Josh Faucette laugh at Josh's powder blue tuxedo.

Josh and Nichole pose for the official king and queen portraits.

Alum Jason Walters, Nina Licketto, Katie Clain-Stefanelli, and Jake Lawrence are smiling because they carpooled and can split the parking garage fee four ways!

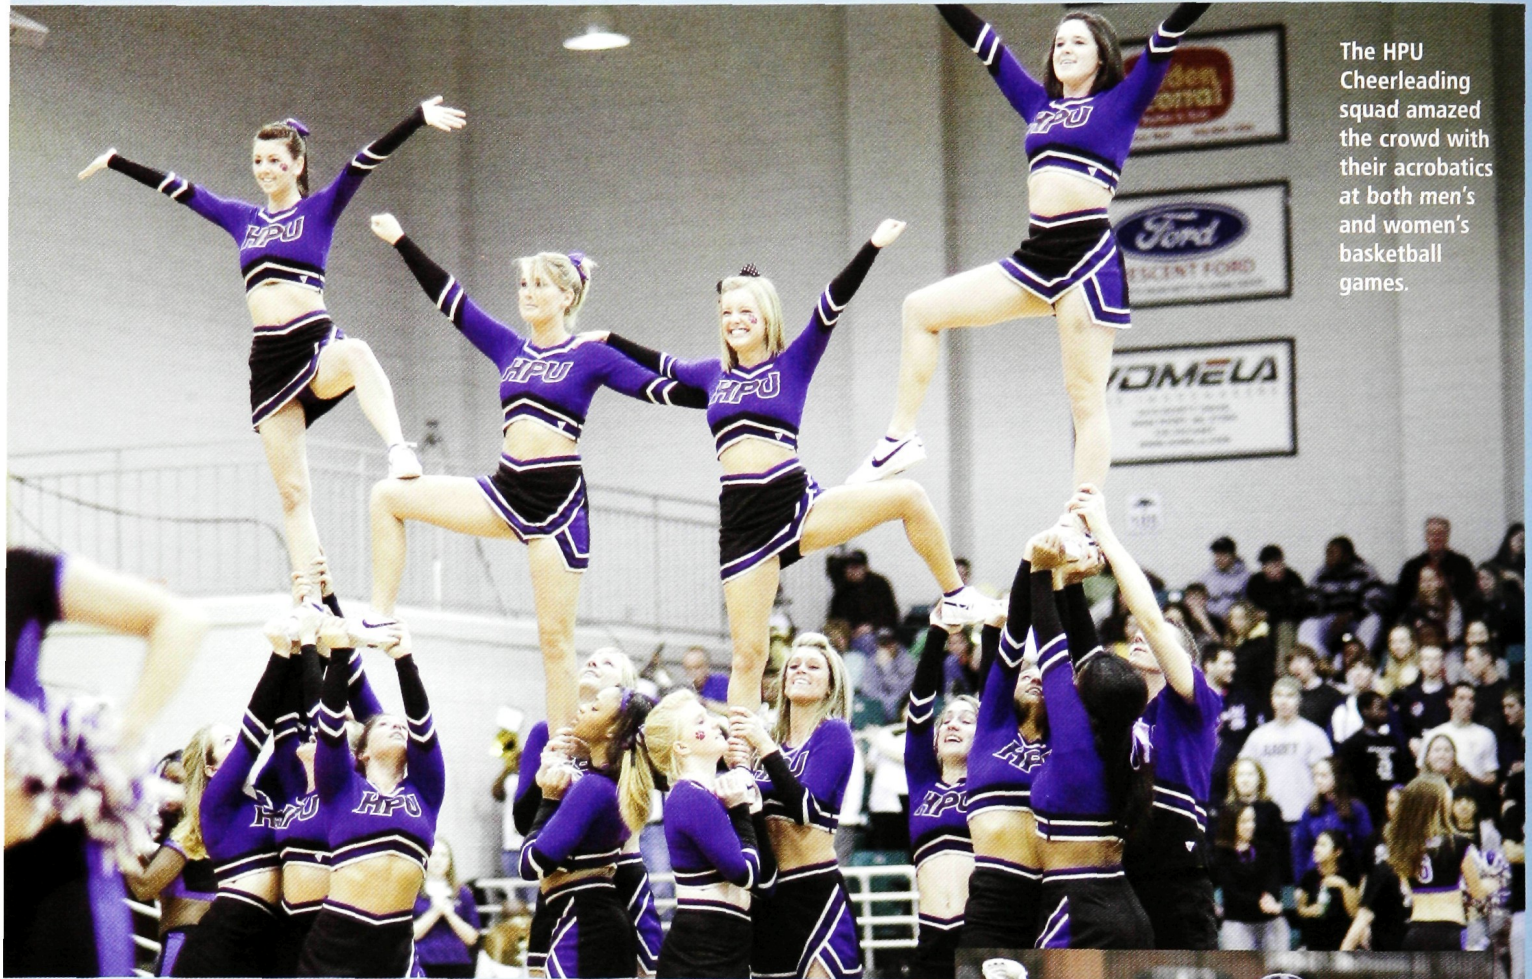

Meredith Terrell and Justin Adams prove that love has no height restrictions.

A new tradition at HPU, the annual Alumni & Family Winter Weekend brought nearly 1000 alumni, family and friends on campus the weekend of February 16-18. The three-day event was full of fun, food, and entertainment. The event also gives our parents a "legitimate" reason to visit us.

The weekend offered something for everyone...from a candlelight dinner in Slane Café, to performances by Tonic Sol-Fa, a nationally-known a capella group, to a pre-game tailgate party and two Panther basketball games.

The HPU Cheerleading squad amazed the crowd with their acrobatics at both men's and women's basketball games.

HPU's very own Toccatonones delivered another outstanding performance opening for Tonic Sol-Fa.

History in the making...HPU's 1st Club Lacrosse match was held on February 17, 2007. The Panthers lost to Davidson in a hard-fought battle.

Families enjoy the opportunity to dine in the HPU Café.

Junior Arizona (AZ) Reid slams it for the enthusiastic crowd.

Tonic Sol-Fa wow's the crowd with their upbeat style of a capella music

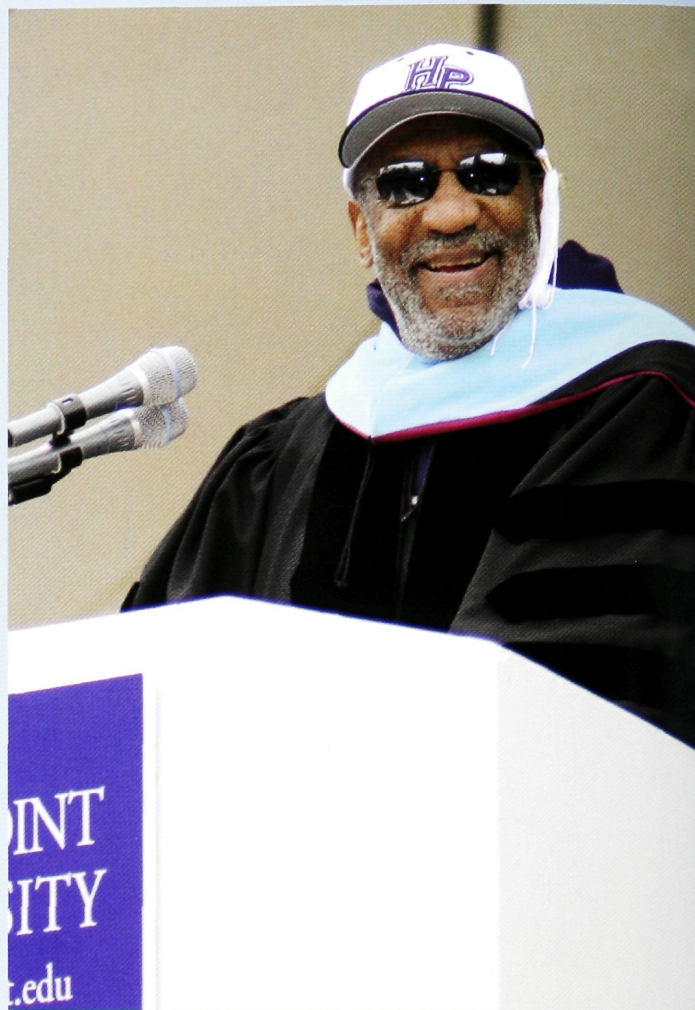

Senior Garret Nielser knows what being the "6th Man" is all about ... crazy purple hair and face paint!

graduation 2007

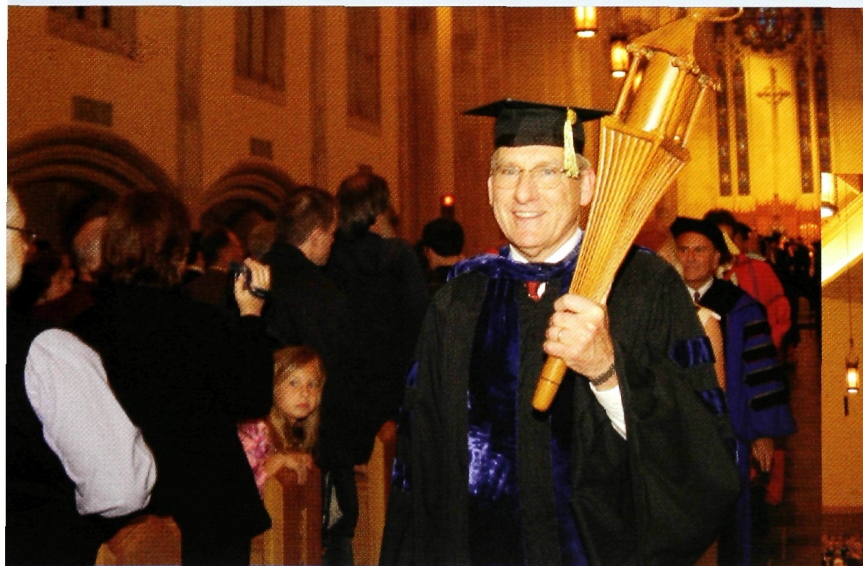

On Saturday morning May 5, a special energy permeated the High Point University campus as graduates, families and friends of the university gathered for the commencement ceremony of the HPU class of 2007. While a light mist threatened to move the festivities indoors, the weather couldn't dampen the spirits of the nearly 8,000 people gathered on the front lawn of Roberts Hall. The ceremony continued outside, and as the 9 a.m. processional began, almost 700 graduates began their march towards the lawn in front of Roberts Hall.

Bill Cosby, the man many of the students watched during their childhood as Dr. Cliff Huxtable on The Cosby Show, gave the commencement address. Wearing a HPU baseball cap with a commencement tassel attached, Cosby kept the crowd laughing with anecdotes from his childhood and reflections from his life. In a lighter moment, he advised graduates to simply "get a job." On a more serious note, he encouraged graduates to follow their dream and to be responsible.

Cosby joins the elite ranks of the university's recent commencement speakers; the past two years have brought the American-born Queen Noor of Jordan, and Republican presidential candidate and former mayor of New York City Rudy Giuliani.

Everyone's favorite funnyman Dr. Bill Cosby delivered the Commencement address to the class of 2007 and their families and friends.

Once again this year, the Baccalaureate Ceremony was standing-room-only. This event has become a favorite of graduating seniors and their families.

Megan Pastor, graduate of the class of 2007, mugs for the camera just minutes after receiving her degree.

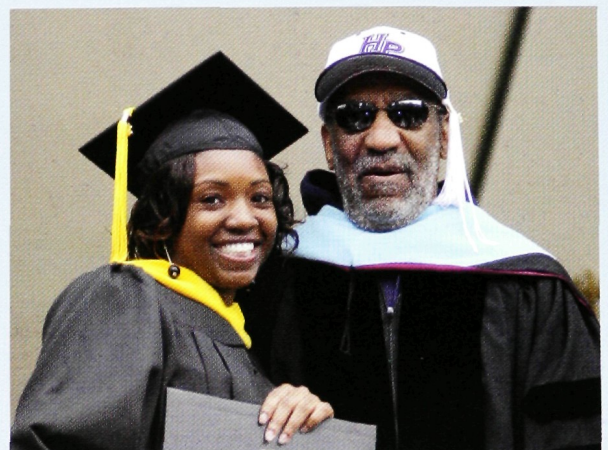

698 students graduated that day, starting a new phase of their lives and taking the message of HPU into the world.

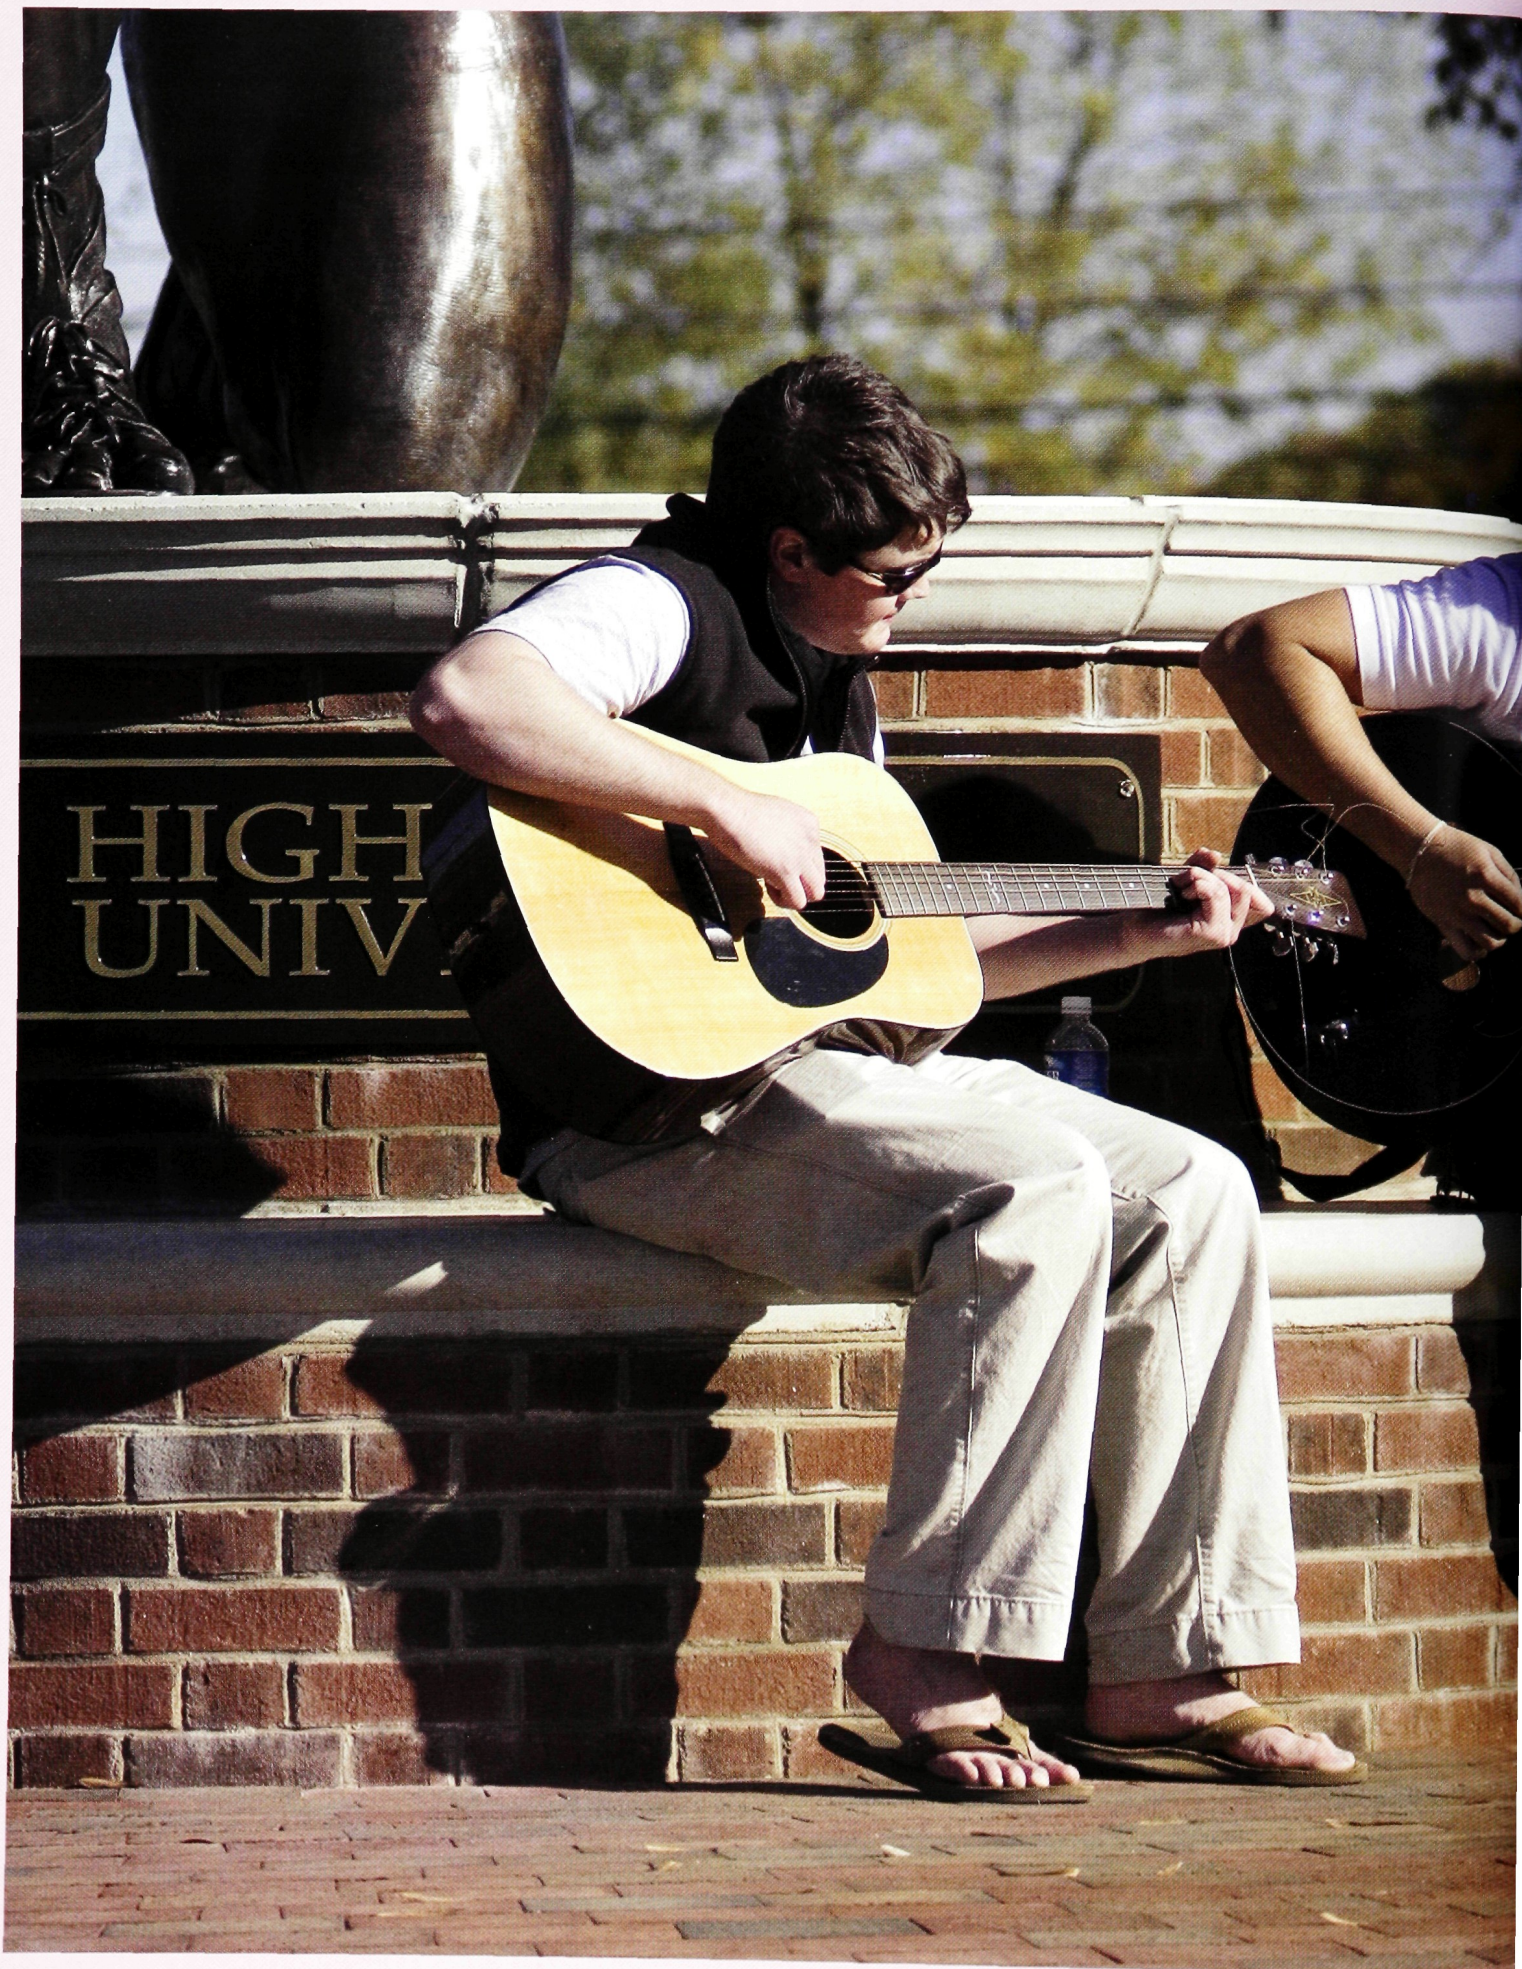

Dr. Qubein presented Bill Cosby with a key to High Point University.

Though a light drizzle threatened to move the event indoors, the skies cleared and nearly 8,000 people enjoyed HPU's 83rd Commencement.

Dr. Cosby shook the hand of every member from this year's graduating class.

With so many students from the mid-Atlantic and northeast regions of the U.S., snow is typical sight for many of student body, for others it's pretty rare. Either way, when snow falls on campus, there is fun to be had. High Point staff members are always eager to sponsor a snowman building contest or just encourage a good old fashioned snow ball fight. The Promenade turns into a white wonderland and students put on their gloves and get busy having fun!

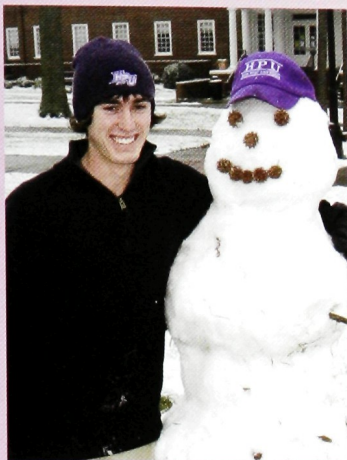

Sophomore Ki'Yonna Brown uses her HPU umbrella to keep the snowflakes away.

While Faculty and Staff take care of "most" of our needs, students still supply much needed assistance to the daily operation of the campus. Dr. and Mrs. Qubein thanked student leaders by inviting them to their home and hosting a dinner in honor of the students who provide crucial support to the daily operation that is High Point University.

Members of the Orientation Crew, Residence Assistants, Student Government Association, Athletes, and others enjoyed a meal they couldn't get in the Café! Along with tours of the Qubein's home, students enjoyed music and the opportunity to spend an evening among friends. President Qubein thanked the students for their commitment to their institution and recognized that true student leadership is an absolute necessity if HPU is to continue on its mega-transformation.

Men's and Women's Club Lacrosse programs were added this year as an opportunity for our growing student population to continue to enjoy their athletic endeavors. These new programs are the first of several new club sports that HPU will be adding over the next several years. Club sports are non-scholarship programs but are under the direction of the HPU Athletics department. Both lacrosse programs will enjoy their first full seasons during the 2007-2008 academic year.

panther FANatics

Pi Kappa Alpha Fraternity is always courtside cheering on our basketball teams!

Garrett Neisler brought Mayhem from Millis to the road. This is a great example of a diehard FANatic at HPU!

The Pikes are ready to paint the town purple!

All business? No, these boys know how to have a good time at a basketball game!

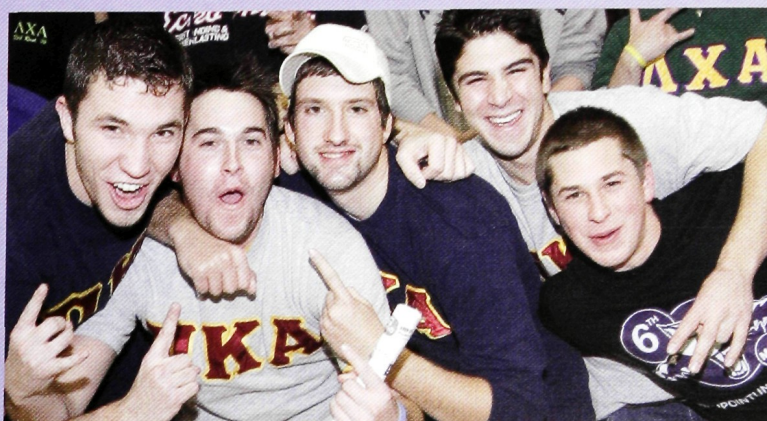

Gary Van Vleit and Crew are stoked to see HPU play Carolina!

David Kaplan is another diehard FANatic here, he really is "The Sixth Man"

James Schreiber and friends have been to more games than any other students on campus!

men's soccer

Chris Archer led High Point in scoring and hold several HPU career records.

Greek Week

Phi Mu really knows how to work it, these girls are strutting their stuff during the walk.

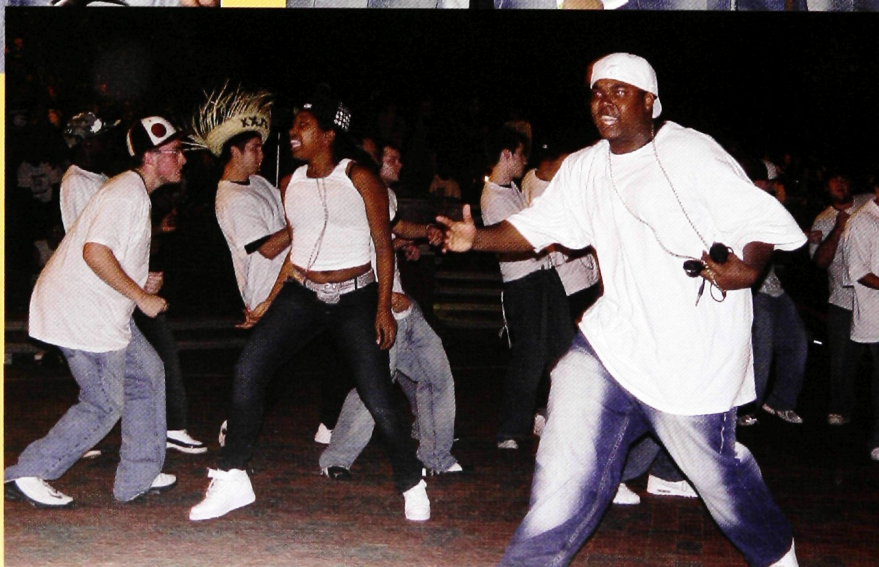

Shannon Stevenson and Katie Matthews are so excited about their lip sync win.

Corey Middleton and Pi Kappa Phi really know how to move...

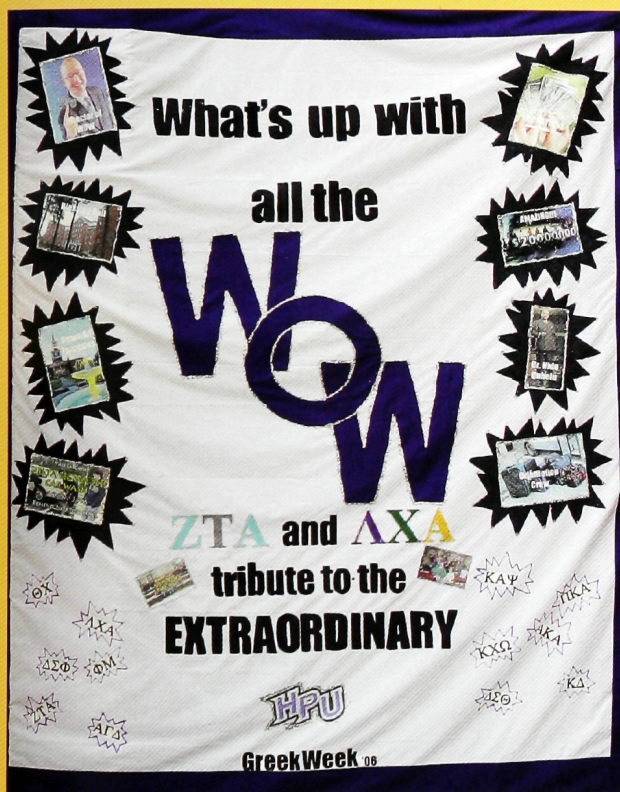

Show us how it's done! Kappa Alpha Psi and Delta Sigma Theta rock the house with their first appearance at Greek Week!

Pi Kappa Phi and AKA pose in their togas for points during Greek Week.

Brittany Crews, Mae Norman, Momo Nauman and Megan Keany sport the matching togas at the bowling alley.

Zeta Tau Alpha and Lambda Chi Alpha chose the theme of WOW for Greek Week.

The Pikes spike the ball on Phi Mu during the volleyball portion of the very competitive week!

ZTA's cheer on their team during Tug-O-War.

Alpha Gamma Delta girls are hoping to win this competition ... they need the points to become Greek Week champs.
